RSN SHOW PREVIEW

RSN SHOW PREVIEW

Welcome

Rolling Stock Networking events give companies of all sizes active in the passenger and freight rolling stock sector an unmissable opportunity to meet customers and suppliers by taking part in a truly vibrant international event in the heart of the industry in Derby, UK.

Following the huge success of RIN (Rail Infrastructure Networking), we have been inundated with requests from rolling stock organisations to provide a similar event for their businesses. We listened and have established RSN to give them the same great opportunities for growth and collaboration, whilst offering some of the lowest exhibitor costs available at a large scale, full day event.

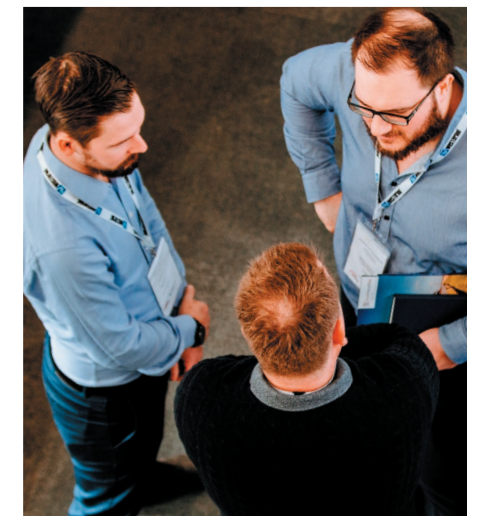

Our pricing is set to provide SMEs, micro-companies and universities with the same opportunity to gain access to the rail market normally enjoyed by much larger companies.

What to Expect

The Networking Expo

RSN 2019 has over 130 Exhibitor spaces with great diversity and many companies exhibiting that are not normally seen on the exhibition circuit. There are many tier 1 companies exhibiting including Bombardier Hitachi, Vivarail, and CAF. Equipment suppliers include LPA, FISA, Westermo, Depot Rail, Garrandale, and many more. Innovators and engineering companies are strongly represented ensuring that the show offers the dependable services and the exciting innovations needed to transform the passenger and freight industry.

Trade Association Events

Trade associations including the Railway Industry Association, Rail Alliance and Rail Forum Midlands will all be adding great value with their own events at the show.

Supporting Organisations

The Conference – RailBusinessDaily

An impressive array of industry leading Speakers will deliver engaging presentations with Stadler, Vivarail and CAF providing the perspective of new builders in the industry. The freight sector will also be represented alongside speakers sharing project insight, market knowledge and presenting commercial opportunities. Be sure to sign up to RailBusinessDaily to be the first to know about all of the RIN and RSN family of events.

David McLoughlin, CEO at railbusinessdaily.com, said: “RSN is already drawing the crowds and we are really pleased that the organisers have agreed to let us play our part in what promises to be a fantastic day. We have already identified five very high-profile speakers and details will be announced via railbusinessdaily.com in the coming weeks.”

Meet the lead sponsor – Jobson James Rail

RSN will build on the continued growth and success of RIN (Rail Infrastructure Networking), with an event tailored to those in the rolling stock and traction markets.

As Keven Parker, Director of Jobson James Rail, told us: “Participants at RIN have often asked us to broaden our networking platform to cover rolling stock. RSN listened and will provide wider and complementary cross-sector exposure for companies of all sizes in the traction and rolling stock markets.”

The exhibitor price is set at an exceptionally low price to reflect our continued aim to promote the growth of those participating in all areas of the rail market.

Meet exhibitors great and small

With major companies exhibiting including CAF, Vivarail, LPA, Mott MacDonald and Rail Operations Group, to name but a few – and enjoying the support of Railway Industry Association, Rail Alliance, Rail Forum Midlands, Rail Freight Group and RSSB – Rolling Stock Networking is shaping up to be a major event in the Railway Calendar. Many exhibitors have exciting innovations to offer and both CAF and Bombardier Hitachi HS2 are hoping to meet and develop suppliers.
